The Artist

People think being an artist must be a wonderful way to earn one's living. And of course, there are lots of great things about working for oneself, at home alone, even in a cold studio like mine. What I really like is that nobody tells me what time to start in the morning. I like to paint as soon as I wake up, which is always early, but isn't the same time every day. And nobody tells me what to wear, or whether I can take the afternoon off and go to a football match.

But then, I have no one to chat with when I'm bored, no one to discuss last night's match with during the office lunch hour. Sure, I can spend the afternoon doing something I enjoy like cycling or gardening if I choose. But the work will still be there when I do finally get back home.

Unfortunately, working at home means that people can always find me, whether I'm bored or not, and once I've answered the doorbell, it's too late - my thoughts have been interrupted. No one would dream of calling in if I worked in an office, but I find myself listening to friends' troubles. As they talk, my ideas disappear and I feel increasingly stressed thinking of my work waiting to be done.

However, when I hear the traffic news on the radio, and imagine my friends sitting miserably in their cars in a jam, feeling bored, or waiting unhappily for an overcrowded tram in the rain, I realise that I really haven't got much to complain about. I find a CD which will start me thinking, turn it up really loudly and begin another picture.

DON'T ACCEPT BAD SERVICE
HOW TO COMPLAIN

BE POLITE - Don't shout! Becoming angry or emotional won't help you. Keep calm, speak slowly but firmly and make it clear that you won't go away until someone listens to you.
GO TO THE TOP - Shouting at the shop assistant is not a good idea. Go straight to the top and ask to speak to the manager.
KNOW WHAT YOU WANT - The law says that if the goods are not working properly or are broken, you should get your money back.
GO PUBLIC - Choose a time when the shop is busy and make your complaint in front of other people. The last thing the shop wants is a bad name,
COLLECT INFORMATION - Take photos of damaged goods. Keep all receipts and guarantees, and make copies of any letters you have sent or received.
SET TIME LIMITS - Seven days is long enough for the shop to reply to a letter of complaint, so don't wait too long before you make a further complaint.
USE THE SYSTEM -Often just saying you will contact your local Trading Standards Authority is enough to make shop owners do something.
BE REASONABLE - If you ask for a fair amount of money, you are more likely to get it than if you ask for too much.
